Municipality is a basic territorial self-governing community of citizens; it forms territorial unit defined by the community borders. It has one or more cadastral territories. Unless municipality is divided into parts, it is considered as one municipality part for the needs of statistics. From the subject-matter point of view, however, the municipality part is composed of a group of houses having a common name and land-registry numbers from one numerical series.

Basic territorial unit (ZUJ) is almost the same as Code of municipality.

An administrative district of a Region except for an administrative district of the Capital City of Prague is divided into administrative districts of municipalities with extended powers.
