

Methodology of weight system revision in 2022

- survey
System of nomenclatures TSKPstat in the quarterly statistical survey Ceny Stav 1-04 have been updated for the period 2022 to 2024.
- calculation
Revision of construction price statistics was prepared in 2022 using a chain-linking method. The weighting scheme was put together from results of construction production between 2017-2021. Aggregations of the price indices are put together in primary time series (technical price indices) and is recalculated afterwards using constants to secondary time series – aggregations of price indices can not be calculated in the secondary time series. Price indices that continue to be based on the 2015 average are published since 2023. The time series were not recalculated and they continue to be published on the CZSO website.
- publication
Construction prices statistics is going to be published on the CZSO web sites:
011041 Price indices of Construction works, price indices of Constructions and indices of Construction costs - quarterly time series.
